Westmorland]; Seton, Whytebek(Whitebeck), and Hevering (Havering) [co. Cumberland]. And by what warrant he claims to be quit of common fines and amercements of the county and of suits of county and wapentake for himself and his men of the aforesaid vills, which belongs to the crown and dignity of the lord the King, without licence of the said lord the King and of his progenitors Kings of England.

The abbot comes and says that he does not claim weyf, infangenethef and emendation of the assize of bread and ale broken, but claims to be quit for himself and his men of common fines and amercements of the county and wapentake, as is contained in the writ, by the charter of lord King John dated in the seventeenth year of his reign, which they proffer and which testifies that the said lord the King granted to a certain abbot of Cokersand two carucates of land with its appurtenances of his demesne Neubigging near Singelton (Newbigging, near Singleton), to hold to him and his successors by the service of 20*s.* yearly. And he granted to them for himself and his men, that they may be quit of such common fines and amercements of the county and of suits of county and wapentake. He also proffers the charter of lord Henry the King, father of the now King, dated in the fortieth year of his reign, which testifies that the said lord Henry granted to the said abbot all the liberties aforesaid.

And William Inge, who sues for the lord the King, says that the said abbot and his predecessors after the making of the said charters approved to him other fees and tenements anew, in which he claims to have the said liberties as in those fees and tenements which they held before the making of the said charters. And he demands judgment for the lord the King, &c. And he demands that it be inquired for the lord the King how the said liberties have been used. Therefore let it be inquired &c.

The jury say upon their oath that the said abbot does not owe suit to county or to wapentake, but they say that the abbot ought not to be nor used to be quit of common fines and amercements except only in two carucates of land in Neusum (Newsham) which the said abbot now holds of the gift of the progenitors of the lord the King, and in the manor of Pelyn (Pilling). And therefore the other lands of the said abbot shall remain geldable. Judgment is that the abbot is in mercy because he claimed to be quit, &c. (Placita De Quo Waranto, 1818, p. 379).

The King, by William Inge who sued for him, demanded against the abbot of Cokersaund, the manor of Pilyn with the appurtenances, of which lord John, grandfather of the now King, was seised as of fee. The abbot came and said that King John by his charter dated in the second year of his reign gave and conceded to the canons of Kokersond a certain waste whereon the said manor is now constructed, to have in frankalmoign for ever. [See Chartulary, I, p. 44]. The Jury say that the abbot has the greater right in the manor, as of the right of his church of Blessed Mary of Cokersand, by feoffment of the said King John. (Ibid., p. 379).

The King, by William Inge, demanded against John de Stalmyne, the manor of Stalemyn. John says that (amongst others) the abbot of Kokersaund holds one carucate of land in the manor. (Ibid., p. 380).

Pleas De Quo Waranto of divers counties before Hugh de Cressingham &c., at Newcastle-upon-Tyne, co. Northumberland, on the morrow of St. Hilary, 21 Edw. I. [1293]. A day is given to the lord the King, by William Inge who sued for him, plaintiff, and to the abbot of Cokersaund, for hearing of judgment touching his plea, in five weeks from Easter, and afterwards a day is given to them at York in the Octave of St. John Baptist. (Ibid., p. 608).

INQUESTS.

(Inq. p. m., No. 76, 2nd numbers, 10 Edw. III.)

INQUEST taken before John Morin, escheator, at Lancastre, on Tuesday next before the feast of the Circumcision of our Lord, 10 Edw. III. [1337], by the oath of William de Burgh of Middelton, John Kieu of Lancastre, Gilbert de Bolron, John Francis, Robert de Bolron, John de Luddelou, Benedict de Gersingham, John de Balrigge, John son of Simon de Boulton, John le Mercer of Lancastre, senior, Roger de Slene and Alan le Maystersone of Lancastre, jurors, who say that it is not to the prejudice of the lord the King or others if he grant power to Edmund de Nevill to give and assign to the abbot and convent of Cokersand and their successors the third part of the manor of Middelton, co. Lanc., to hold for the finding of a canon-chaplain to celebrate Divine Service in the chapel of Middelton for the souls of the said Edmund and Eufemia, formerly his wife, and the souls of his ancestors and heirs and all the faithful deceased, for ever. And they say that the said third part is taken to be seven oxgangs of land, whereof five oxgangs are held of Henry, earl of Lancastre, by the service of 8*s.* 4*d.* yearly, for all service; one oxgang is held of William de Burgh of Middelton by the service of a pair of spurs yearly for all service, and William holds the oxgang of the earl by knight's service, namely, the 128th part of one knight's fee; and one oxgang is held of Thomas de Riggemayden of Middelton, by the service of a pair of spurs yearly for all service, and Thomas holds it of the earl by the service of 20*d.* yearly for all service. They say that the said third part of the manor is worth yearly in all issues, according to the true value, seventy shillings of silver. There are no other mesne tenants between the King and the said Edmund. There remain to Edmund, beyond the gift aforesaid, lands and tenements in Vllereston [Ulverston], co. Lanc., which he holds to him and his heirs of William de Councy, by knight's service, namely, by fealty and 30*s.* yearly for all service, and worth yearly in all issues forty pounds of silver.

INQUEST taken at Bacsdholf, co. York, on Thursday after the feast of St. Michael the Archangel, 8 Edw. II. [1314], before John de Eure, escheator, by the oath of John de Boulton, John de Knoll, Richard de Batresby, Elias de Knoll, William de Skipton, John de Wadington, Stephen de Finay, William de Mitton, Henry de Boulton, Robert de Skipton, John de Brocholes and Simon de Colethirst, who say that it is not to the prejudice of the King or others if the King grant to the abbot and convent of Cokersand and their successors, the advowson of the church of Mitton, which they hold of the earl of Lancaster in frankalmoign, and the earl holds it of the King in chief, by knight's service, and it is worth yearly eighty marks.

WRIT of certiorari to William de Nessefeld, Escheator in the County of Westmorland, concerning the taking into the King's hand of lands and tenements of the abbot of Cockersand in Lupton and Lyndhowe, because it had been found by inquest returned into the King's chancery that Robert de Carleton, late abbot of Cockersand—who held of the King in chief by homage, by reason of the fees late of William de Coucy being in the King's hand—died on the 20th March, in the 28th year [1354], and because the now abbot had entered the premises without process of the King's court.

At Westminster, 18th February, 33 Edward III. [1359].

Inquest ad quod damnum, 35 Edward III., No. 18.

INQUEST taken at Kyrkeby in Kendale, co. Westmorland, 13th February, 35 Edward III. [1361], by the oath of Rouland de Thorneburgh, Thomas de Redman, John de Pykering, Adam de Berbourn, John del Chambre, Roger Kayrous, Richard de Iccornschaugh, Aubrey de Cotom, William de Edenhale, John Warde, John de Burgh, and Thomas de Manser, respecting the lands and tenements of the abbot of Cockersand, in Kendale, co. Westmorland. They say upon their oath that the present abbot (successor to Robert de Carleton, who died 28 Edw. III.) and his predecessors, from time immemorial, held all their lands and tenements in Lupton and Lindhowe in the said county, now in the King's hands, in pure and perpetual alms by the gift of their founders, and that they did not hold there or elsewhere of the King in chief, nor by homage or any other service due to the King, nor of the fee of Sir William de Coucy, but in pure and perpetual alms, quit from all secular service.

TO the abbot of St. Mary's, York, the archdeacon of East Riding, and the official of York. Mandate to summon the abbot and convent of Cokersand, and others concerned, touching the church of Mitton, void by the death of William de Tatham, although the abbot and convent occupy it on the pretext that it has been appropriated to them. If the church is void it is to be given to Thomas Sotheron, who is to resign that of Monnesley, in the diocese of Norwich.

RELAXATION, during twenty years, of a year and forty days of enjoined penance to penitents who give alms for the repair of the Premonstratensian monastery of St. Mary, Cokirsond, in the diocese of York, situated so near the sea that the walls built for the preservation of its buildings are being worn away and destroyed by the waves. The pope strictly forbids these letters to be sent by collectors; if this be attempted, they are invalid. Moreover, if similar indulgence, not yet expired, have been granted by the pope, the present letters shall have no force.

LETTERS AND PAPERS FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC HENRY VIII.

Vol. V., 1531–2, p. 601, No. 1416.

12 Oct., 1532, Robert, abbot of COKERSAND to Cromwell.

Has received his letters for the preferment of Sir Jas. Layburne to certain lands in the manor of Assheton belonging to their monastery. It is true that the late occupiers paid only 33*s*. 4*d*. by extortion, instead of 7*l*. 6*s*. 8*d*. as formerly. Immediately after my entry the heirs of the late occupants offered to pay that rent, acknowledging the wrong, claiming the land by custom of the country called tenant-right, to which I consented. Begs, therefore, to be excused from complying with Cromwell's request.

ELIZABETH by the grace of God &c. to all &c. greeting. Let it be known that we have inspected the tenor of certain feet of fines remaining in our Chancery at Lancaster, in these words.—

Pleas held there on Monday, viz., in the fourth week of Lent, 3 & 4 Philip & Mary [29th March, 1557], before Edward Saunders, knight, and William Dalyson, Justiciars at Lancaster: Final Concord made in the Court of the King and Queen at Lancaster, on Monday &c. [as above], between Richard Sherburne, knight, Laurence Habergeham, and Thomas Towneley, complainants, and John Kechyn Esq., deforciant of the manors of Cokersand and Pyllyn with the appurtenances, and 100 messuages, 200 cottages, 1 water-mill, 2 dovehouses, 100 gardens, 100 orchards, 1000 acres of land, 500 acres of meadow, 1000 acres of pasture, 40 acres of wood, 3000 acres of moss, and twenty shillings rent, with the appurtenances, in Cokersande, Ellell, Bankhouse, Pyllyn, and Cokerham, and also a free fishery in the water of Loyne, whereupon a plea of covenant was summoned between them in the said Court. John acknowledged the manors, tenements, rent and fishery to be the right of Richard, as those which Richard, Laurence and Thomas had of the gift of John, and those remitted and quit-claimed to them and the heirs of Richard in perpetuity. Moreover John and his heirs will warrant the manors, tenements, rent and fishery to them and the heirs of Richard for ever. For this acknowledgment and quit-claim they gave him 760li. sterling.

All and singular which premises, at the instance of the aforesaid Richard Sherborne, we have exemplified by these presents. In testimony of which thing we have caused these our letters to be made patent. Witness myself at Lancaster the 24th August in the 1^st^ year of our reign [1559].

NOTES FROM "COLLECTANEA ANGLO-PREMONSTRATENSIA"

EDITED FOR THE ROYAL HISTORICAL SOCIETY BY ABBOT GASQUET.

LETTER from the Prior and Convent of Cokersand to the abbot of Croxton, announcing the death of their abbot, William Lucas, asking him to take steps for the election of a successor, and wanting to know when they may expect him. (page 95).

A fragment only: in places quite illegible, the writing being destroyed by damp. Undated, probably 1477.

Letters of Richard Redman, bishop of St. Asaph, dated at Cokarsand 16th Dec., 1490, appointing, after the death of William Bowland, late abbot of Cockersand, for election as his successor, by the bishop's own authority and that of John Asglin, abbot of Croxton, whose place he was taking, John Preston, who after the usual formalities, was elected by way of inspiration, and his election duly confirmed by bishop Redman and Ellis, prior of Hornby, his assessor, and installed with the usual ceremonies. (p. 110).

Itinerary of Thomas Wilkinson, abbot of Welbeck.

He commenced his visitation of the northern parts on 24th April, 1506, staying at Kyrkeby-Kendall on the night of 23rd April at the expenses of the abbot of Cokyrsande; thence on the 25th to Cokarsand at the hour of vespers or thereabouts to begin his visitation on the morrow and to end it on the 27th, staying at Kendall on the night of the 28th at his own expenses. (p. 193).

Richard Redman, bishop of St. Asaph and abbot of Shap, being frequently besought by N., canon of Cokarsand and by others, to be allowed to transfer his obedience to Talley, grants permission, the petitioner having renounced all the rights he had in Cokarsand. Given at the monastery of Shap, 6th Dec., 1485. (p. 244).

Richard [Redman], bishop of Exeter and abbot of Blessed Mary Magdalen [Shap], to his brother the abbot of Cockersand. Considering that careful attention to the common utility and profit of his order was but to increase his own profit; and certain irregularities having without doubt by the craft of the enemy sprouted and become manifest in the order, requiring a fresh visitation and reformation, he intended to avenge and punish such things as were done against God: Therefore he gave notice [to the abbot of Cockersand] that on the 3rd April next, as near dinner time as the tide would permit, he proposed to visit the monastery in person, beginning the process of visitation on that day and continuing it from day to day as long as was needful. In order that the visitation might have a worthy result he ordered all the brethren, whether dwelling within the abbey or abroad, to be summoned to attend in person on pain of procedure against them according to the rule. An experienced man must be sent to Lancaster on the 2nd April to meet him, provide for all necessary expenses there, and conduct him safely amid the dangers of the sea to the abbey. The bearer of this letter should be kindly rewarded for his pains. [Shap], 13 March, 1496–7. (p. 247).

Letters of Bishop Redman, restoring Robert Burton, canon of Cokarsand, at the intercession of his brethren, to the stall &c. there, which he had lost by misconduct. Undated. (p. 263).

INDEX NOMINUM.

ANCIENT and various forms of names are given in parentheses after the modern spelling.

Old forms of names when beginning with a different letter are referred to the modern spelling; e.g., "Aliwalle, see Halliwell," "Balistarius, see Arbalaster," "Eshton, see Ashton," "Horhull, see Orrell," "Ynes, see Ince," &c.

"Filius" is indexed under "son of" or "fitz"; "w. of" stands for "wife" or "widow of"; J after the number of a page stands for "juror," and T (testis) for "witness."

Professions such as carpenter, chaplain, clerk, &c. are indexed under the Christian name of the individual.

n after the number of a page represents a footnote; (2) indicates two independent references to a name on the page; (3) indicates three references, and p (passim) more than three.
